MEMO ABOUT THE DOWNLOAD FOLDER FOR AIRCAST

QUESTION:
 I see an Aircast 5.2 snapshot zip and the exe. So I install the just the exe?
 I downloaded both of them and it looks like snapshot zip has a bunch of .dll files

ANSWER:
There is also a snapshot-setup.exe in the download folder, use that one, it's a regular installer.
The zip file is for advanced/multi-instance usage. Always use the installer if unsure.

Note the changes we made that are in the v5.3 snapshot, now 5.2!

So this is the correct download URL:

http://download.aircastradioautomation.com/v5.3/snapshot/

If you had an earlier build of v5.3 installed previously, the setup will just install on top of it.

If you had v5.2 installed, v5.3 will install as a separate application, also with a separate config - just run the config tool straight after setup, it will ask you to migrate the config from the earlier version.

If everything works, you can uninstall v5.2 from the Windows Control Panel.

We chose to make separate applications from each minor release (5.0, 5.1, 5.2, 5.3) so that customers can take their time and get their config straight and test all new features while keeping their existing version and config intact.

Good luck
